COLOR CONSULTATIONS

Modern color theory is a combination of intuitive artistic sensibility and rational scientific examination. Light interacts with a surface and we perceive colors. While many of the fundamentals of design create memorable spaces, sometimes an experienced eye can read the architectural subtleties that are asking to break the rules! I am a good color designer because I understand the need for balancing intuition and logic, but more importantly I am good with understanding your style and tastes and adapting that to a new vision of your personal space. We will study inspiring color spaces from the internet and magazine photography. Once we decide on a theme, a digital mock-up of the walls, ceiling, trim, etc. can be offered to help visualize the final look! Color is really the first impression a person gets of your home. The lasting effect of colors and the design of our surroundings can have a meaningful psychological effect on us. I love to find harmony with color and I'm happy to offer color consultations.
